

Rip: A Remix Manifesto Response Questions

Please respond to the following questions on the blog. Thanking you!!

Brett states, "... a media-literate culture emerged, able to download the world's culture and transform it into something different." What do you think it means to be "media literate"?

Gilberto Gil states, "Nobody creates in a vacuum. Everything comes from something else". How many people had to pick up a camera so that you could do what you're doing today?" Do you agree with this statement?

Do you believe the music industry should have accepted Napster's offer to license their music? What do you think of the current model of digital distribution (iTunes etc.)?

Lars Ulrich states, "If artists aren't profiting, you're profiting illegally." What do you think of this statement?
